

Callum Watling

Consultant

Email: callum.watling@oxera.com

Tel: +44 (0) 20 7776 6627

Languages: English

Expertise

- Antitrust
- Antitrust Damages
- Market Investigations
- Regulation

Sectors

- Financial Services

Profile

Callum is a member of Oxera's Competition, Regulation & Market Design and Financial Services teams. Prior to joining Oxera in 2018, he worked at Ipsos MORI, a global market research firm. Here, he specialised in customer research for the financial services sector, advising a range of multinational firms on their global customer research programmes.

Callum holds a Masters degree in Economics from University College London, where his curriculum focused on game theory, econometrics and industrial organisation; and an undergraduate degree in Economics and Management from the University of Oxford.

Selected professional experience

- Economic advice to the arbitration tribunal in respect of the dispute between Standard Life Aberdeen and Lloyds Banking Group (2018–19)
- Economic analysis of the design of equity trading markets in Europe for the Federation of European Securities Exchanges (2018–19)

Qualifications

- MSc Economics, University College London, UK
- BA Economics and Management, University of Oxford, UK