

Job title
Economic Consultants
all career levels

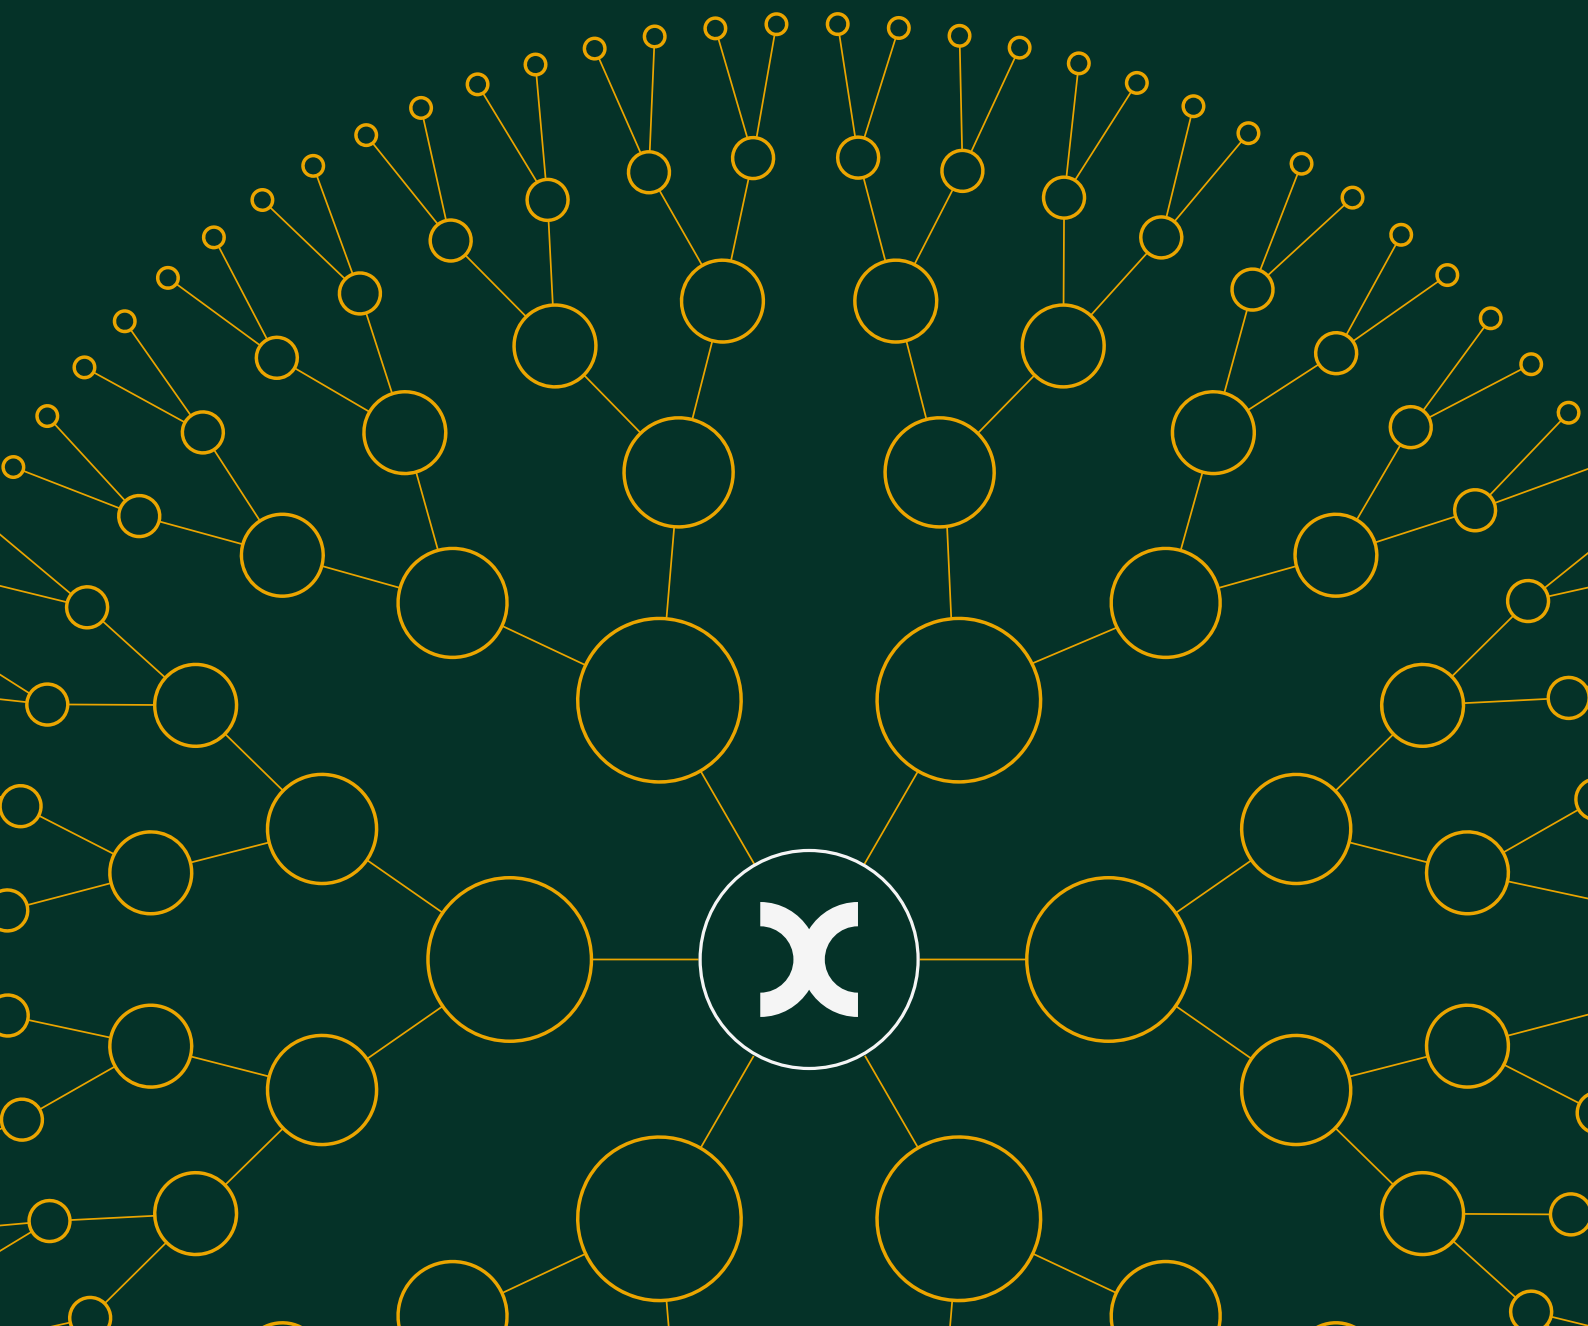

Start date
2024

Teams
Competition Economics, Regulation and Market Design, Econometrics and Data Science, Finance and Valuation

Location
Madrid, Spain

What difference will you make?

About Oxera

Oxera was founded in 1982 on a single principle—to use the power of economics to answer the world's most difficult challenges.

That principle—and our values of integrity, insight, collaboration and passion—have directed us ever since, from where we began to the global reach we have today.

We have played an exciting role in shaping regulation and competition policy across the world, working closely with companies, governments, the sharpest academic minds and professional partners to win ground-breaking commercial cases. We have delivered fresh and creative work that continues to withstand the scrutiny of markets, regulators and the test of time.

Over the course of our history we have grown a successful independent economics, finance and data consultancy in Europe and beyond. We now have nine European offices and work in over 50 countries worldwide. We have experienced remarkable growth in recent years, which has given us the opportunity to embark on the next exciting chapter.

Economic Consultants

At the heart of Oxera's success is its people and their unwavering belief in the power of shared understanding. This belief is ingrained in every aspect of our culture. From the top down and the bottom up, Oxera fosters an environment of listening and respecting others' perspectives.

Our drive is fuelled by the passion to deliver nothing short of excellence in our work. Every project, every task, is undertaken with care and dedication. The work environment fostered a spirit of collaboration, where the brightest minds ignited new ideas and shared decisions. We recognise that true growth came from embracing alternative approaches and challenging the status quo.

We are looking for economists and data specialists who share this passion and can work with us to inspire better decision making on global issues.

Skills, qualification and qualities

- A university degree in economics or finance (bachelor, master or PhD) or are currently in the process of obtaining one
- Relevant work experience, ideally in a consultancy
- You are highly motivated and dedicated and enjoy collaborating in an international environment
- A strong communicator who can work successfully with clients
- Can work with scientific methods and have strong analytical skills
- Very good written and spoken Spanish and English skills, further language skills are desirable
- Knowledge of Stata, R, Python or Excel is desirable

What we offer

- An international and collaborative work environment with mobility between our offices
- Regular client contact, face-to-face or virtual
- Flexible working hours, especially the choice between full-time and 4-day week
- Structured career path with appealing compensation
- Practical learning and a wide range of training and development opportunities
- Attractive bonus package
- The opportunity to work with some of the brightest and most experienced minds in the industry

To apply to join our team please email your CV to madridrecruitment@oxera.com

You can use the same email address if you have any questions about the position or the application process.